

It Always Helps

says Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky., in writing of her experience with Cardui, the woman's tonic. She says further: "Before I began to use Cardui, my back and head would hurt so bad, I thought the pain would kill me. I was hardly able to do any of my housework. After taking three bottles of Cardui, I began to feel like a new woman. I soon gained 35 pounds, and now, I do all my housework, as well as run a big water mill."

I wish every suffering woman would give

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

a trial. I still use Cardui when I feel a little bad, and it always does me good."

Headache, backache, side ache, nervousness, tired, worn-out feelings, etc., are sure signs of womanly trouble. Signs that you need Cardui, the woman's tonic. You cannot make a mistake in trying Cardui for your trouble. It has been helping weak, ailing women for more than fifty years.

Get a Bottle Today!

COTTON COMMITTEE NAMED BY HEFLIN

Aiken Represents South Carolina on Congressional Body to Plan for Investigation.

Washington, Feb. 26.—A committee to represent the cotton growing states in the framing and introduction of a resolution in congress for the investigation of the New York cotton exchange and to draft a bill for the regulation of cotton exchanges in the United States was appointed to-day by Representative Heflin as the result of the conference of cotton State members Thursday night. The committee follows:

Representatives Heflin, Alabama, chairman; Jacoway, Arkansas; Clark, Florida; Vinson, Georgia; Watkins, Louisiana; Davenport, Oklahoma; Eagle, Texas; Sims, Tennessee; Daughton, North Carolina; Aiken, South Carolina; Candler, Mississippi; Russell, Missouri; Hayden, Arizona, and Kettner, California.

The Newspaper a Community Asset.

The Salerno Commercial Club, of Salerno, Fla., has organized to boost that promising town, but the boosters found out that endeavoring to boost a town without a newspaper was making noise without being able to can it.

Realizing the main thing about boosting is the publicity part of it, the club established the Salerno Enterprise to give emphasis through it as a medium for the vitalized energies and plans of those who believe in the town. Under the circumstances, they were compelled to recognize that the potential need of a town is a newspaper through which the spirit and progress of the town could be manifested or proclaimed to the outside world. The Salerno boosters knew of their own knowledge that they were boosting, but it was like exhausted steam which goes up in the air with no place to go, after it has made its noise and vanished into spray.

The Salerno Commercial Club was up against it hard when it found itself without a newspaper. The members learned from experience that a newspaper has a well-defined value attached to it—two kinds of value, in fact; a value more or less important to the owners and publishers and yet another very signal value to the community in which it is published. A community may not have a dollar's worth of stock in its newspaper, and yet a good newspaper is one of the very best assets of a town.

Some people of a community or section do not know that, or they ought to wake up and appreciate what their local paper and its plodding proprietor are doing for them. It does not make any difference whether a newspaper is a big one or a little one, they all call for plodding and lots of it. Recently the plodders on Columbia's two excellent newspapers had reason to feel as if they had been entirely

COLDS & LaGRIPPE

5 or 6 doses 666 will break any case of Chills & Fever, Colds & LaGrippe; it acts on the liver better than Calomel and does not gripe or sicken. Price 25c.

ARTISTS MAKE MERRY

Miss Jane Gaff as she appeared at the Bal Masque of the Society of Illustrators. Comic artists, serio comic cartoonists, painters in oils and water-colors and painters whose names are almost household words from coast to coast, held an "Old-Fashioned Circus Bal Masque" in New York. Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson was the master of ceremonies.

Miss Jane Gaff as she appeared at the Bal Masque of the Society of Illustrators. Comic artists, serio comic cartoonists, painters in oils and water-colors and painters whose names are almost household words from coast to coast, held an "Old-Fashioned Circus Bal Masque" in New York. Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson was the master of ceremonies.

DEER ARE BECOMING PEST

Game Warden of West Virginia Predicts a Rapid Increase in Big Game.

Grafton, W. Va.—Deer are multiplying at a rapid rate in the forests of the state as a result of the protection that is now being given, according to J. A. Viquesney, state game, fish and forest warden. They are becoming so thick, Mr. Viquesney says, that in a few years they will become a pest. Turkeys also are multiplying rapidly.

Mr. Viquesney is preparing to establish sanctuaries or refuges for game in every county in the state under provisions of the law enacted at the last session of the legislature. This has not been possible before because of lack of funds, which now are available. The law provides that as much as 10,000 acres may be leased in each county, the owner to continue to occupy the land, but the state to have jurisdiction, so far as the game is concerned. The owner becomes deputy game warden.

GEM IN A CHICKEN'S CRAW

Pennsylvania Woman Found There a Diamond Worth More Than One Hundred Dollars.

Colwyn, Pa.—Whether there is a diamond mine in Philadelphia or in Delaware county, Mrs. Otto Woerner of No. 50 South Third street, Colwyn, is not sure, but she does know that the chicken that she purchased from a Baltimore avenue (East Lansdowne) dealer a few days ago was a most valuable bird, and incidentally proved the best investment she ever made.

When Mrs. Woerner opened the chicken and cut open the craw she saw something sparlike, and on closer examination was surprised and delighted to find that it was a pure blue-white diamond of the first water.

Having it appraised by an expert, she was told that it was worth considerably more than one hundred dollars. Since the announcement of this discovery was made the dealer has had a run on chickens.

CAR DERAILED BY HORSESHOE

Cast by Passing Nag, It Rolls Under Car and Causes Switch to Be Turned.

Kansas City, Mo.—C. F. Collins, a carpenter, was walking across the street close to a street car slowly moving in the storm. A horse, in passing, threw a shoe, which rolled under the rear truck of the car and caused a switch to be turned.

The front end of the car proceeded in a straight line, while the rear trucks started up a side street.

Collins was thrown under the car when struck by the swinging rear end, and escaped being crushed under the wheels by the quickness of the motor-man.

No Peace, Until Rights of Small Nations Are Secured.

London, Feb. 23.—Premier Asquith found himself unexpectedly face to face in the House of Commons today with a new demand for the Government's views on peace. He took up the gauntlet almost eagerly and in a bristling 15-minute speech made it clear that the British Government's determination to carry the war to the end without compromise had not abated a jot or tittle since the early days of the struggle.

The only terms of peace Premier Asquith offered to the enemy countries were contained in the historic announcement which was the outstanding feature of his speech at the London Guild Hall in November, 1914, which he repeated:

"We shall never sheathe the sword, which we have not lightly drawn, until Belgium—and I will add, Serbia—recover in full measure all and more than they have sacrificed; until France is adequately secured against aggression; until the rights of the small Nations of Europe are based upon an unassailable foundation and until the military dominance of Prussia is wholly and finally destroyed."

The Prime Minister's stern declaration created a deep impression on all parts of the House and this found reflection subsequently in the lobbies. The occasion for the Premier's pronouncement was a speech which Philip Snowden, of the independent Labor party, injected into the debate on the consolidated fund bill, a routine measure providing appropriations mainly for interest on the National debt.

The Cleaning Up Problem.

With all the "clean up" talk and the continued evidences of garbage on all hands, we are confronted with the fact that Henderson is no longer a mere village, but has now become a city. The street cleaning force has grown from one lone negro and a stray mule to one of considerable magnitude. Two mules and carts are worked on the force all the time, hauling off garbage, and additional force is frequently required to meet the demands. The area to be cleaned has not been increased but rather diminished by neglecting a part of it. The city has just been forced to buy two extra mules to do the general street work, on account of the fact that the old team is constantly kept busy with the clean up work. If there is any doubt that active efforts have been made toward cleaning up, let the doubting ones go out to the corporate limits in almost any direction they may choose and see the great piles of tin cans, waste paper and rubbish that have been dumped into every gully and vacant lot. It is a conservative estimate to say that twice as much garbage is hauled off each week now as there was a year ago. This is to be accounted for in several ways. First, with the new bitulithic streets everything has to be swept up and carried away, while with the old dirt streets nothing but paper and boxes had to be removed, and by no means all of that was carried off. Second, every store in town is now occupied and last year was the largest trade year the merchants of Henderson have ever known. Third, there are more houses and more people than ever before, and land about the city has now grown too valuable to lie idle. Consequently there are fewer places to throw garbage than formerly. All of which not only goes to show that we have a real city but a city problem as well. And for the present year it has become necessary for the city government to make adequate provision for handling the situation. Meanwhile it is the duty of every good citizen to lend a hand and keep his own premises clean, and thereby encourage his neighbor to do the same thing. —Henderson Dispatch

A Scant or a Full Tablespoon WHICH?

A scant tablespoon of Luzianne goes exactly as far as a big heaping tablespoon of a cheaper coffee, for you use only half as much of Luzianne. That's so positively guaranteed that if, after using an entire can of Luzianne as directed, you are not entirely satisfied with its economy and goodness, your grocer, on your say-so, will gladly return your money. Write for our premium catalogue.

LUZIANNE

COFFEE

The Reily-Taylor Co. New Orleans

Our Winning Brands

Ring's Elegant Flour.
Sensation Self Rising.
Vesta Superlative Patent.
None Better Superlative Patent.

You have tried the rest now try the best

E. B. RODDEY & CO.

Lancaster's Leading Grocery Phone 276

OUR DIFFERENT LINES

THE BEST GROCERIES THAT MONEY CAN BUY.

Shingles, Lime, Cement, Ceiling, Flooring, Weather-boarding, Coal, Wood, and Brick.

DELIVERED PROMPTLY.

Edwards & Horton

POINTS OF MERIT

These have brought the

UNDERWOOD TYPEWRITER

To its present leading position.

Award Grand Prize, Highest Honor Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

Holder International Speed and Accuracy Typewriter Trophy for Ten Years.

Elliott-Cresson Medal for Mechanical Supremacy.

Endorsed by World's Champions and all Great Typists.

"The Machine You Will Eventually Buy"